

responsibilities of the State Governments. Accordingly the State Government have issued comprehensive instructions to the law enforcing agencies to take adequate steps to maintain peace and communal harmony. A Task Force has also been set up under the concerned Revenue Development Commissioner to look into the matter, and a close watch is being kept by the State Government.

The Central Government sends alert messages and shares intelligence inputs from time to time. The Central para-military forces are made available to the States on specific requests and a special force called the Rapid Action Force has been created to assist them in controlling communal tensions. Guidelines are issued from time to time drawing the attention of the State Governments to the need for taking action against persons spreading ill-will, hatred and disharmony between members of different communities. Assistance is also being provided for improving/modernizing the States' policing infrastructure.

The Government is firm that acts of violence against the minority communities, whenever and whatever form they occur must be dealt with sternly and exemplary punishments awarded to the perpetrators.
