

New Internet Policy

2074. SHRI RAMDAS AGARWAL: Will the Minister of COMMUNICATIONS be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have announced the new Internet Policy;

(b) if so, the details thereof and the time by which the same is likely to be implemented;.

- (c) the estimated number of new employment opportunities likely to be generated as a result thereof; and

(d) whether huge capital investment would be required to implement the new Internet Policy, if so, the source from which it is likely to be made available and whether any target for receiving capital from each source fixed so far?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF COMMUNICATIONS (SHRI RABINDRA PURKAYASTHA): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) The new Internet policy was announced on 6.11.98. The implementation of the same started on the same day, with the signing of four licence agreements. As on date 36 licences have been signed.

(c) As per the new Internet policy, Government is giving licences to private companies to provide both Internet content and access services as an Internet Service Provider (ISP). Although it is difficult to estimate the number of new employment opportunities, the growth of these service's is expected to generate tremendous avenues of employment in the areas of software development, for various types of information services which will be provided on the Internet.

(d) The policy encourages small entrepreneurs to set up their services in a Secondary Switching Area and to provide service only in one town as well as big companies who can set up services all over India. The various sources of funding include promoters own contribution and the external funding by way of equity investment & debt etc. from financial institutions, and other investors. Tie up and arrangements for financial closure would be done by ISP licenses themselves.
