Payment of wages to Plantation Workers

81. SHRI DAWA LAMA: Will the Minister of LABOUR be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that the actual wages being paid to plantation workers are far below the minimum wages;

(a) whether there are disparities in actual wages in different sectors of plantation workers from State to State; and

(c) whether Government propose to constitute a Wage Board for plantation workers?

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR (DR. SATYANARAYAN JATIYA): (a) and (b) Sir, under the Minimum Wages Act, 1948, State Governments are the appropriate Government for fixation/revision of minimum rates of wages for different sectors of plantation workers. Various State Governments have, therefore, fixed minimum wage for plantation workers by taking into account of prevailing socio-economic factor which influence real wages in the region. Such Minimum Wages fixed for the plantation workers differ from State to State. However, disparities in minimum wages between different states of the same region are discussed in the Regional Labour Ministers' Conferences and necessary remedial steps are taken.

Whenever violation of these provisions is noticed, enforcement machinery of the concerned State takes appropriate action against the defaulter under relevant law.

(c) At present Government does not have a proposal to constitute Wage Board for plantation workers.
