Elimination of middleman system to benefit farmers

1701. MISS SAROJ KHAPARDE: Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government are aware that middlemen reap the benefits at the cost of farmers in the country as the farmers are not given remunerative prices whereas middlemen take maximum benefits out of their produce;

(b) if so, whether Government propose to eliminate the middlemen system in the country by bringing forward a legislation for the purpose; and

(c) if not, the reasons therefor?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE (SHRI SOMPAL): (a) to (c) Middlemen have been present in the marketing system for more than a century. By way of their comparatively better knowledge of buying and selling activities, they undertake transactions on behalf of the farmers. In order to check exploitation by the middlemen, State Marketing Legislations have already fixed the charges for the services rendered by them. Under this legislation, the middlemen are closely observed for proper method of sale, correct weighing and prompt payment so that the farmers are not exploited and get appropriate dues on sale of their produce.
