(c) and (d) The LIC have reported that this facility is expected to be operationalised by 1997-98.

Interest rates of banks

2466. SHRI SUSHILKUMAR SAMBHAI RAO SHINDE:
SHRIMATI VEENA VERMA:
SHRI RAJUBHAI A. PARMAR:

Will the Minister of FINANCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government's attention has been drawn to the report in the Times of India, of February, 14, 1997, captioned, "Disinterest Rates";

(b) whether interest rates of banks have been so dismally reduced that they have begun to turn away the depositors;

(c) whether common depositors with their small savings are at wit's end and find themselves at a loss with bank rates touching the lowest ebb; and

(d) if so, what steps are being taken to safeguard the interest of the small depositors and to encourage small deposits?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI M.P. VEERENDRA KUMAR): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c) Reserve Bank of India (RBI) have reported that in the context of comfortable liquidity position, banks have in the recent period, reduced their dependence on high cost deposits such as certificates of deposits. However, interest rates on savings deposits with banks remain unchanged. As regards term deposits, the present ruling rates as compared with the previous rates show a general lowering of rates offered by banks. Between March 1996 and February 1997, the range of interest rates on domestic term deposits fixed by the public sector banks has declined from 10 to
