

SHRI PRANAB MUKHERJEE : We also successfully resisted concerted moves to extend the period of integration of textile trade from 10 to 15 years by taking a strong position on the issue. (Interruptions). The Standing Committee attached to the Commerce Ministry which had gone into the implications of the Dunkel Draft in great detail has recommended in its report, that while all efforts should be made to safeguard India's interests in key sectors of agriculture, textiles, services and Intellectual Property Rights, at the end of the day, India should remain a part of a multilateral trading system rather than opting out the same and getting totally isolated from the rest of the world. (Interruptions).

On the whole it is our considered judgement that India has more to benefit from the expansion of world trade through the Uruguay Round Agreement rather than pursuing any alternative course of action. (Interruptions).

उपसभापति : एक-एक करके बोलिए । (व्यवधान)

SHRI M. A. BABY : One minute. Please listen to me. I do not consider it an inadvertent mistake because on the top of it, it is typed, "Rajya Sabha." Madam, it betrays the callous, haphazard and irresponsible manner in which the Ministry functions, and this relates to the role of our representatives in the Geneva discussions. Did they read the proposals properly ? Have they been going through the contents ? If this is how the Ministry and the Government function, you can well imagine what would be the . . . (Interruptions) . . . Swamyji, one minute. This betrays the total callousness and carelessness with which our Government is functioning. After having typed "Rajya Sabha," they do not care to go through the text, and the address "Mr. Speaker, Sir" is there. In the same way if our negotiators were conducting themselves in Geneva, you can well imagine how the interests of our country might have been mortgaged. Therefore, We cannot proceed with this. The Prime Minister himself should come and explain what has happened in Geneva. Our allegation that this Government has been functioning in a most careless manner has already been proved.
