

vernment, particularly the Home Ministry as well as the Human, Resource Development Ministry that they have no right to change the syllabus of the text books supplied under the literacy scheme as well as the post-literacy scheme because the funding of this scheme is done by the Central Government. The stake of the State Government is very little. This literacy scheme is being organised by the State Governments under the direction, under the instructions and under the norms fixed by the Central Government. Therefore, I request that the Central Government should interfere in the matter and see that the text-books supplied to the students or the people who are attending the adult education camps are not changed and they remain the same. Thank you very much for allowing me to make this Special Mention.

SHRIMATI RENUKA CHOWDHURY (Andhra Pradesh): Sir, I associate myself with what my hon. colleague has said. This movement in Andhra Pradesh which is now fighting the Government suppliers of alcohol has snowballed because of this awareness. The Government unwittingly opened the eyes and the women of the State have taken up this campaign and because of that, there are so many other developments that have been taking place. At this juncture, if the Government wants to object to a lesson which is being taught in the adult literacy centres and if they want to remove this particular story, it is going to reflect very sadly on what we claim as a literacy drive.

WOMEN'S MOVEMENT AGAINST LIQUOR CONSUMPTION IN ANDHRA PRADESH

SHRIMATI RENUKA CHOWDHURY (Andhra Pradesh): I thank you, Sir, for giving me this opportunity. Part of what I am going to say is virtually an extension of what my hon. colleague, Mr. Padmanabham, has just spoken about. Going on to a much broader perspective I would like to start by quoting Article 47 of the Constitution and I think it is our good luck that the hon. Health Minister is sitting with us. Article 47 states;

"Duty of the State to raise the level of nutrition and the standard of living and to improve public health— the State shall regard the raising of the level of nutrition and the standard of living of its people and the improvement of public health as among its primary duties and, in particular, the State shall endeavour to bring about prohibition of the consumption except for medicinal purposes of intoxicating drinks and of drugs which are injurious to health."

Sir, I go on to state that just in the year 1991-92 in the State of Andhra Pradesh itself we had 1,500 deaths related to alcohol drinking. Besides this, I would also want the Home Minister to make a survey to find out how much allocation is made for people who are occupying beds in the Government hospitals which are related to liquor diseases in terms of enlarged liver, cirrhosis, malnutrition deficiencies and other things. Simultaneously, Sir, I would also like to focus the attention of the House towards the pressing problem of rising incidence of crime against women in various States because the State Governments, in total contravention of the fundamental right given to a citizen under Article 47 of the Constitution, are allowing, aiding and abetting the sale of liquor. Sir, I want to point out it is not liquor per se, it is not arrack per se or alcohol per se that I am objecting to, but it is the whole, comprehensive problem that the country is battling against that I am anxious about. We cannot get a qualitatively better country if a man who cannot read who works throughout the day for his daily wages spends more than half of it on liquor. This alcohol brings about a vicious circle because the revenue is collected by the State from the sale of liquor. In Andhra Pradesh, Rs. 850 crores is the revenue which comes from the sale of liquor. Now it is with the liquor barons that we bring about criminalisation of politicking because these people, in turn are maintaining anti-social elements and it is these anti-social elements who have now started attacking the women of Andhra Pradesh who have been battling against of bottle.

Besides malnutrition and crime against women, there is a social divide on this issue now and if you go to see the whole picture, Sir, it is going to be very difficult to have a qualitative India. The people who are consuming arrack are not given the fundamental right to a better life. There has been no choice given to them because in Andhra Pradesh along with the Pan-Bidi Dukan we (have the Sharab hi Dukan and with this it is becoming impossible for the women of that State to lead a peaceful life. I beg indulgence of this House and of all my lady-colleagues here that they should take up this battle in their respective States. Again this also is in violation of whatever legislation we pass in this august House. We talk of prevention of denigration of the status of women, we talk of crime against women, we talk of a better life for women, but none of these is possible if we do not remove this basic, fundamental social 'evil'. Women in Andhra Pradesh are now faced with the problem. Sir, when they are in asleeps their husbands steal away even their sarees and pawn them for one rupee so that these men can have a drink. Their children are deprived of nutritious food. These women are deprived of their right to education or to go out and they are living in utter poverty; the women have been taking loans to keep themselves alive but they have not been able to pay back the loans. It is truly tragic that women of this country are suffering like this. We constitute 50 per cent of the population of the nation; we have our right; we are downtrodden; we our right; we are downtrodden; we are battling for our lives. I urge upon the Central Government—if we want to talk of law and order, if we want to talk of a peaceful India, if we want to talk of a constructive or a qualitative India—that we must take it up as a rational policy and see that the State Governments are not abetting and aiding the sale of cheap alcohol or country alcohol and because of it a lot of bootlegging also comes around. We have malnutrition in India. The tragedy is that the man who works the whole day for his wages is backing and supporting the Government by paying for the arrack. It goes back to the revenue coffers of the Government. These are the people for whom we claim that we are making all these developmental, beneficial and social efforts. We talk of reforms; we talk of developing the socially downtrodden. It is simply not possible. We are talking of hypocrisy. You cannot develop them if you don't give them nutritious food. You cannot develop them by taking their money, by giving them alcohol to drink. They forget to question the Government. You take money from them and you say that you are doing it for their welfare. This is a total contradiction. So, [ urge the Central Government to take serious steps. I think, the entire House associates itself with me. (Interruptions). .
