VALEDICTORY REMARKS

THE DEPUTY CHAIRMAN: Today is the last day of the Session, hon. Members, and I would like to say a few words to you before we adjourn. I am very happy that we have the quorum. Sometimes, when we adjourn the House sine die, there is hardly anyone even to speak to.

Hon. Members, I would like to thank all the Members on my behalf and on behalf of the Members on the Panel of Vice-Chairman,—in fact, I should thank the Members on the Panel of Vice-Chairmen because they have headed a lot, specially today—for the cooperation extended in the transaction of the day-to-day business of the House. As the Members are aware, during the Monsoon Session, weather does play a major role in the control of tempers in the House. But like the weather in Delhi which changes very often, the mood of the House also changed occasionally, warming up feelings and tempers. Hon. Members are aware that this Session has been a long, hectic and heavy one. We had in all 31 sittings and the House sat for approximately 180 hours, passed 15 Bills and returned 7 Bills. Two Calling Attention Notices were also taken up. The Members took keen interest in the Special Mentions and in all 192 Special Mentions were made by the hon. Members. Apart from that, we had Short Duration Discussions on some important subjects like irregularities and fraudulent transactions in banks and other financial institutions, developments at Ayodhya, likely closure of certain public sector undertakings, condition of rural labour, etc.

The historic and substantive achievement of this Session has been that we decided to set up three Joint Parliamentary Committees on Human Resource Development, Industry and Labour. The unanimity displayed by the House in endorsing the recommendations of our General Purposes Committee and Rules Committee only indicates the desire of Members to perform their functions of overseeing administration for the welfare of the people.

During this period some important events also took place, such as the election of the President of India, election of the Vice-President, election of the Deputy Chairman of the House, broadcast of the Question Hour by the AIR, oath/affirmation by new Members and appointment of Joint Parliamentary Committee (JPC) to go into irregularities and fraudulent manipulations in all its aspects and ramifications in transactions relating to securities, shares, bonds and other financial instruments.

The House also made reference to the dropping of the first ever atomic bomb on Hiroshima 47 years ago on the 6th August, 1945.

To mark the occasion of the 50th Anniversary of the Quit India Movement the House at a special sitting held on the 8th August, 1992 paid homage to martyrs and freedom fighters and adopted a Resolution.

I once again thank hon. Members, leaders of various parties and groups and also the Leader of the House for the cooperation extended by them in conducting the proceedings of the House. And I also thank the staff of the Secretariat the members of the staff working in the House and outside for the work they have rendered during the Session.

I wish you all happiness and extend to you Dussehra and Diwali greetings and also greetings for other festivals that will be falling during the inter-Session period.
