

reforms which were in the interest of large-scale employment generation. He, however, dispelled the notion that these reforms would be at the cost of labour.

(c) Review / updation of labour laws is a continuous process in order to make them in tune with the prevailing situation and emerging needs so as to bring them in tune with the market oriented economy giving the domestic industry a level playing field to face the global competition. The Second National Commission on Labour, set by the Government, would inter-alia take into account the emerging economic environment involving rapid technological changes, globalisation of economy, liberalization of trade and industry, emphasis on international competitiveness and also the need for brining the existing laws in tune with the future labour market needs and demands. The report of the Commission is expected by 15.02.2002.
