The school is neither controlled by the Ministry of Defence nor is any recurring or non-recurring grant given to the school by any Government Department/agency. The school is run by the local Management Committee. The terms and conditions of service and the pay scales of the teachers are determined by the local Management Committee and Culture, every year opens schools at various Stations, primarily for the benefit of the children of transferable Central Government employees including Defence personnel. Air Force Station, Barrackpore, is included in the programme for the opening of a Kendriya Vidyalaya during 1983-84/1984-85. The Sangathan does not accept the liability of appointing/absorbing any of the existing school staff in the services of the Sangathan. The existing staff members are, however, free to apply in response to the advertisement for various categories of posts issued by the Sangathan from time to time and to compete with outsiders.

In anticipation of the opening of a Kendriya Vidyalaya at Barrackpore, the Management Committee of the Vayu Sena Vidyalaya, Barrackpore, had issued notice for the termination of the services of the teachers of the school. This is a normal procedure followed whenever private schools are replaced by Kendriya Vidyalayas.

A representation has been received by the Government from the teachers of the Vayu Sena Vidyalaya, Air Force Station, Barrackpore against the issue of notices of the termination of the services to them. They have also alleged harassment by the Senior Education Officer of the Air Force Station, Barrackpore. The Air Force authorities have denied any harassment to the teachers.

As per the revised programme, a Kendriya Vidyalaya is not being opened at the Air Force Station, Barrackpore, during 1983-84. It is understood that the notices for the termination of services of the teachers of the school have therefore, been withdrawn.
