Crash programme for providing employment to the rural unemployed

@*392. SHRI SHYAM SUNDAR MOHAPATRA: Will the Minister of @Previously Starred Question 212 transferred from the 14th March, 1983.

RURAL DEVELOPMENT be pleased to state:

(a) what is the estimated number of unemployed persons in rural areas of the country;

(b) how many persons are working full time and how many part time in a year in the rural areas; and

(c) whether Government have any crash programme under consideration for providing them employment?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT (SHRI HARI NATH MISHRA): (a) The number of unemployed persons in the rural areas was estimated at 15.36 millions in March, 1980 on the basis of rate of unemployment observed in the National Sample Survey 32nd Round (1977-78).

(b) About 148 million persons were working full time and about 41 million persons were working part time in rural areas as per the 32nd Round of Survey conducted by the National Sample Survey Organisation in 1977-78.

(c) The problem of unemployment cannot be tackled by a crash programme. The employment generation depends upon the sum total of economic activity both in public and private sectors. Various schemes of Central Government and the State Governments in sectors like Agriculture, Irrigation, Animal Husbandry, Forestry and Rural Works etc. generate employment in rural areas on a continuing basis. This Ministry has also been implementing special programmes like National Rural Employment Programme (NREP), Integrated Rural Development Programme (IRDP) and Training of Rural Youth for Self-Employment (TRYSEM) for maximising the employment opportunities in rural areas.
