

a sick unit, they will deal with their outstanding dues to the unit in accordance with the normal banking procedure. However, before doing so they will report the matter to the Central Government who will decide whether the unit should be nationalised or whether any other alternative, including workers' participation in the management, can revive the undertaking.

(v) Where it is decided to nationalise the undertaking, its management may be taken over under the provisions of the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951, for a period of six months, to enable the Government to take necessary steps for nationalisation.

(vi) The industrial undertakings presently being managed under the provisions of the Industries (Development and Regulation) Act, 1951, will also be dealt with in accordance with the above principles. It will be decided if the undertakings are to be nationalised or any other alternatives can provide a solution. If none of the alternatives are considered feasible, the Government may consider denotification of the unit in which event the banks and Financial Institutions will deal with their outstanding dues to the undertaking in accordance with the normal banking procedures.
