REFERENCE TO THE REPORTED CLAIM OF A PROFESSOR OF CHEMISTRY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ALLAHABAD FOR HAVING SYNTHESISED A UNIQUE PARTICLE THAT MAY END ENERGY AND FERTILIZERS CRISIS

[Mr. Deputy Chairman in the Chair]

SHRIMATI AMARJIT KAUR (Punjab): Sir, a Tribune news item dated 1st November, 1980 has brought to light the work done by a husband and wife team of scientists* of Allahabad University. These two scientists have claimed that they have synthesised a particle which can, in the presence of sunlight, create a process that splits water into Hydrogen and Oxygen—Hydrogen being the fuel of the future—and air, also in the presence of sunlight, into fertiliser Nitrogen.

Sir, all of us in this Hon. House have done our little Chemistry during our school and college days and I am sure, will at once realised that a discovery such as this is fundamental to our future existence. At the
