(b) Yes, Sir.

(c) and (d) The proposed film uses, as its context, Mahatma Gandhi's statement 'My Life is My Message'. It is fundamentally telling, as much as may be possible within three hours, the story of Gandhiji's life. It also attempts to convey something of the philosophies, the humanity, the compassion and the integrity of India to the world at large. The film is also expected to generate a considerable goodwill for India in the world. It was felt that a production of this type would be a great tribute to the Mahatma. Government therefore reacted favourably to the proposal of Sir Richard Attenborough to produce the film in collaboration with the National Film Development Corporation, who, as a co-producer; will invest Rs. 5 crores in the project
