(e) The number of Centres of Advanced Study recognised by the University Grants Commission is 28.

(f) 9 Centres of Advanced Study are located in Central Universities, 6 in Delhi University, 2 in Banaras Hindu University and 1 in Aligarh Muslim University.

(g) The entire expenditure of Central Universities, both in respect of maintenance and development is met by the University Grants Commission. In the case of State Universities, while the maintenance expenditure is met entirely by the State Governments, the development expenditure is shared between the University Grants Commission and the State Governments. A comparison of grants paid by the University Grants Commission to Central Universities with those paid to State Universities will therefore be unrealistic.
