

Madhya Pradesh. Food situation is satisfactory in most of other States. It is too early to estimate the likely yield or the loss in kharif production. However, according to available indications total production of kharif cereals in the country may be lower than last year. Firm estimates about the yield and the loss in production are likely to become available towards the close of the agricultural year i.e. in July-August, 1975.

(d) The rains received during the second fortnight of September and early October, 1974 were helpful in rabi sowings. As the sowings are still taking place, it is too early to indicate the prospects of the ensuring rabi crops.

(e) The rains during the second week of October improved the prospects for sowing of rabi crops. The State Governments were advised to undertake steps to ensure sowing of gram, wheat and oilseeds over large areas during the current rabi season. To maximise the efficiency of fertilisers' use, the farmers have been advised about the correct doses of fertilizers and the proper methods and timing of their application not only in irrigated areas but also, to small doses of fertilisers in unirrigated areas as the yield response ratio of fertilisers in such areas is expected to be higher with the availability of moisture in the soil. Arrangements were also made to meet the requirements of seeds wherever there was a shortage, particularly for the North-Eastern States. Mass scale education and training of the farmers for popularising the recommended package of practices, timely sowing, timely irrigation, weed control, adoption of improved management practices etc., was also organised.

(f) With favourable weather, the measures undertaken by Government may be expected to result in a sizeable improvement in rabi production which would help to improve the food situation in the country.
