

2. Certain other steps have also been taken to generally strengthen security measures and check thefts of antiques, statues, rare manuscripts, etc., from museums, and the more important of these are :—

(i) In-service training has been given to Customs staff so that they may be able to detect antiques where efforts are made to smuggle them out of India ; officers of the Archaeological Survey of India have also been posted at important air and sea ports at Calcutta, Bombay, and Delhi.

(ii) Systematic photographic documentation of museum objects in the Central Museums is in progress and the States have been requested to carry out similar documentation of antiquities.

(iii) State Governments have been requested to provide police guards at selected museums under the control of the Archaeological Survey of India.
