Industrial Growth Rate

*118. SHRIMATI MAIMOONA SULTAN:

SHRI GANESH LAL MALI:

SHRI SHYAMLAL GUPTA:

Will the Minister of INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a Fact that the industrial growth rate during the Fourth Five

Year Plan period was 4.1 per cent against the target of 8 to 10 per cent; and

(b) if so, what is the comparative industrial growth during the years 1969-70, 1970-71, 1971-72, 1972-73 and 1973-74 and what are the reasons for a substantial shortfall in the growth rate?

THE MINISTER OF INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT AND SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY AND AGRICULTURE (SHRI C. SUBRAMANIAM): (a) and (b) A statement is placed on the Table of the House.

Statement

(a) and (b) The simple arithmetic average annual growth of industrial production for the first four years of the Fourth Plan period, namely, from 1969-70 to April, 1973—January, 1974 (ten months for which figures are available) works out to a little more than 4 per cent as against the Plan target of 8 to 10 per cent.

The growth rate in the years indicated have been:—

1969-70—7.3 per cent

1970-71—3.1 per cent

1971-72—3.3 per cent

1972-73—5.3 per cent

April 1973—January 1974 0.4 per cent

The main reasons for the shortfall in industrial production in relation to the Plan target are: shortage of power; operational and maintenance problems (in certain key sectors like steel fertilizers and power); transport bottlenecks (particularly in regard to the movement of coal); shortages of raw materials (like steel, non-ferrous metals and chemicals), for which foreign exchange availability for inputs has been a constraint; unsatisfactory industrial relations in certain sectors; and temporary fall in demand (arising from lack of matching inputs, etc.). Capacity constraint in a few industries have also impeded the growth of industrial output (as for instance in caustic soda, soda ash, calcium carbide, paper, etc.). For certain industries, the growth of output is linked to the state of agricultural production, for the supply of raw materials, as for instance for sugar, vanaspati, cotton textiles etc.
