

the Fifth Five Year Plan of All India Radio for expansion of T.V. services. Further, the capacity of the existing units in the small scale sector who have been approved for an annual production of 2,500 sets each may have to be increased for reasons of economic viability. It was explained that for these reasons it may not be desirable to accord more approvals for the manufacture of T.V. Receivers. However, it was pointed out that approval for one or two more units in West Bengal could be considered favourably to meet the local demand, depending upon the time schedule for the opening of the T.V. Station at Calcutta.
