CONSTRUCTION OF POWER STATION IN NORTH BENGAL

*584. SHRI M. K. MOHTA:

SHRI KALI MUKHERJEE:

Will the Minister of IRRIGATION AND POWER be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Government of West Bengal have made any proposal to the Centre for the construction of a 200 M.W. power station in North Bengal to meet the growing shortage of power which has retarded the State's industrial growth; and

(b) if so, the details thereof and reaction of Government with regard thereto?

THE DEPUTY MINISTER OF IRRIGATION AND POWER (SHRI BAIJ NATH KUREEL): (a) and (b) A statement is laid on the Table of the House.

STATEMENT

(a) No, Sir. West Bengal Government have not made any proposal to the Centre for the construction of a 200 MW Power Station in North Bengal. However, the Central Government are proposing the setting up of a 240 MW Thermal Power Station in the Central Sector at Dalkhola in West Bengal near its border with Bihar, for serving in the areas north of Ganga both in West Bengal and Bihar.

(b) The Station will comprise two thermal generating units of 110/120 MW each, to be procured indigenously. Rail-borne coal from Raniganj coal fields would be utilised. The cooling water requirements will be met from the Mahananda River. The estimated cost of the project is about Rs. 47 crores. Power from the project would be fed into the West Bengal and Bihar Grids depending upon their respective demands.

The project was approved by the Advisory Committee of the Planning Commission at its meeting held on the 2nd June, 1972. The sanction of the project is under consideration of the Government in consultation with the Government of West Bengal and Bihar.
