

Technical School was set up in 1965 and the classes started in 1966. Since 1968 there have been no students and the State Government is considering the question of closing down the school.

(c) and (d) The State Government has given so far a grant of Rs. 47,500/- for furniture, equipment etc. The Governing Body of the School could not get electrical power from the State Electricity Board, nor did it approach the State Government for purchase of a separate generator. Training was given only in those trades which did not require electrical power.

(e) The Scheme of Junior Technical Schools provides for the award of stipend to 50 per cent of the students when the schools are fully developed. This provision, however, could not be made applicable to the Laudoha Technical School since it was still undeveloped.
