The reason appears to have been to bring pressure on the management of Indian Airlines to accept the demands of the Indian Aircraft Technicians Association.

The loss suffered by the Indian Airlines due to the agitations launched by the technicians was approximately Rs. 65 lakhs during August/September 1970, Rs. 95 lakhs during the period 22nd February to 12th March, 1971 and about 5 lakhs per day in the subsequent period.
