

MR. DEPUTE CHAIRMAN; Do you A-
'ant to reply':

SARDAR SY/ARAN SINGH: What >hall I say? I do not wish to use the word silly or oolish. The silly and foolish suggestion, I think, should remain rather untouched.

SHRI CHTTA BASU (West Bengal); I tl ink the Government is committed to Parliament and to the country that hey would spare no pains to recov sr the territories which are now illeg; lly occupied by China. May I know whether the Government, in this context, have examined the political implications arising out of the hesitation of the USSR Government in not issuing immediately a corrigendum ll show the correct position of India' map visa-vis China? May I understand from this, from the hesitation of l le USSR that they are not even tod; y in a position to side with Indi'a in the matter of our territory vis-a.vis the Chinese claim on Indian territory? If so, would the Government make every possible effort to make the USSR issue a corri-gendum witht ut any further delay? In that respe-t what steps have the Government taken so far? If they have not takei any step, it is a dereliction of duty on the part of the Government und it is a breach of trust of the nation.

SARDAR SWARAN SINGH: With regard to the1 first question, I have already said and I would repeat that continued Pi inting of maps with wrong bounds ries has political implications and it i for this reason that we have been p essing them that they -hould correct these maps. Obviously the implications are in relation to our dispute v ith China because what is our territory they show as Chinese territory. It is quite obvious. It •does not require much elaborate presentation to arrive at that conclusion. Then, with regard to the second question, I think he unwittingly used the word 'side' in his question: Is the Soviet Union not prepared to side with India? We do not want them t» side with us. We only want them to see the correct state of affairs and to show the boundary which is the correct boundry, whether they side with us or they do not side with us.
