MOTION REGARDING THE FOURTH FIVE YEAR PLAN,
1969—74 Conid.

SHRI T. CHENGALVAROYAN (Tamil Nadu) : Mr. Vice-Chairman, Sir, I was on the penultimate part of my speech and I should like to refer to the very important provision and impact of the Fourth Five Year Plan on the prospects of public sector undertakings. The massive outlay of nearly 60 per cent of the total outlay of the Plan on the public sector investment augurs very well for generating sufficient economic momentum. If it is to sustain the rate of growth, may I, Sir, take this opportunity of most respectfully reminding not only the Government but ourselves, that the public undertakings must turn a new leaf in their career? It has to be recognised that no public sector undertaking in a socialist endeavour can ever to be successful and really purposeful if it does not have, what they call, the autonomy of the Government and flexibility of operation. I hope that those who are in charge of the affairs of this nation would take very serious note of this important expectation of the public undertakings. As it is, these public undertakings with their inefficiency, inadequate and pitiable performance make us feel that they are not so much public undertakings as they threaten to be public undertakers, and let not this Plan be an underwriter of such a calamity.

Mr. Vice-Chairman, Sir, my next reference will be to the very important provision for agricultural production and industrial output. I have no complaint with regard to the allocation for agricultural improvement, but one thing that strikes me as rather staggering is that this expectation of, what they call, the gestation period, and the effects of the very many minor and major irrigation schemes should not be extended for a period of 20 years but they must be staggered to a period of 10 years. As regards the industrial output and the expectation of the rate of growth, the average rate of growth that we have so far seen does
