1485. SHRIJESUDASU SEELAM:
DR. T. SUBBARAMI REDDY;
DR. AKHLESH DAS:

Will the Minister of EXTERNAL AFFAIRS be pleased to state:

(a) whether after a successful completion of first phase, U.S. Under Secretary for Commerce visited India to discuss for second phase of next steps in strategic partnership (NSSP) initiative;

(b) if so, the details of the steps to be taken in this phase of the strategic partnership discussed with him and the outcome thereof; and the progress so far made under the first phase of the strategy;

(c) whether both Prime Minister of India and U.S. President had agreed to launch second phase of NSSP by mid-October, 2004;

(d) if so, to what extent both phases of agreement reached between two leaders have been fully implemented; and

(e) to what extent it would be beneficial to India?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI RAO INDERJIT SINGH): (a) U.S. Undersecretary for Commerce, Kenneth I. Juster visited India in October 2004 to review the progress in Indo-U.S. High Technology Cooperation Group (HTCG) and to participate in the NASSCOM organized India-U.S. Information Security Summit-2004.

(b) to (d) Next Steps in Strategic Partnership (NSSP) seeks to enhance cooperation in civilian space; civilian nuclear energy, 'dual use' items and missile defence areas and is designed to progress through a series of reciprocal steps that build on each other. This has included implementation of measures to address export control concerns. These efforts have enabled the US to make modifications to export licensing policies that will foster cooperation in commercial space programs and permit certain exports to power plants at safeguarded nuclear facilities. ISRO Headquarters has been removed from the U.S. Department of Commerce Entity List. The completion of Phase one of NSSP was announced in a Joint Statement on 17 September, 2004 during Foreign Secretary's visit to U.S. prior to Prime Minister's meeting with President Bush on 21 September, 2004. Since then two meetings—one in New Delhi on October 21 and the other in Washington on November 18 of the Implementation Group of NSSP have taken place to explore ways to move further in the next phase.

(e) NSSP provides a unique platform for the two sides to work together constructively to improve confidence and relations between the two countries. It would be beneficial in enhancing high technology transfer and strategic trade between the two countries.
