SHRI K. P. SUBRAMANIAMENON:

Will the Minister of FOOD AND AGRICULTURE be pleased to state :

(a) whether it has come to the notice of the Government of India that the marine diesel engines manufactured in the country are highly defective;

(b) whether it is a fact that owners and operators of fishing boats have been complaining about the quality of these engines; and

(c) what steps Government propose to take to ensure the quality of marine diesel engines supplied to fishing boats?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FOOD, AGRICULTURE, COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND COOPERATION (SHRI ANNASAHEB SHINDE) : (a) and (b) Marine diesel engines manufactured in the country have now been in use for several years. There are about 1500 such engines fitted to fishing boats operating around our coasts. Some models have not proved satisfactory and are not in demand. Others are being widely used. Complaints which have been received from time to time regarding indigenous engines fall into two categories. Marine diesel engines being manufactured in the country were mostly high revolution while for certain types of fishing low revolution engines are preferred. Low revolution engines are, however, also now being manufactured in the country. The second category of complaints is in regard to various mechanical defects.

(c) The complaints received have been taken up with the manufacturers through the Directorate General of Technical Development. In some cases the manufacturers have carried out detailed investigations with a view to effecting improvements. A careful watch will be kept on the quality of engines to ensure maintenance of adequate standards.
