(b) The following reference to Kashmir occurs in the introduction to the Annual Report of the Secretary General, under the section "Peace Keeping" :

"In welcome contrast to the tragic events of 1965, the situation in Jam-mu and Kashmir during the past year has been quiet and UNMOGIP has reported few cease-fire violations, none of them of serious military or political significance. Such minor difficulties or incidents as have occurred were resolved readily with the cooperation of the parties and through the good offices of the United Nations Military Observer Group in India and Pakistan. However, following last year's promising development in Tashkent, there has been no serious effort on the part of the United Nations to contribute to an ultimate solution of the problem."

It will be observed that the Secretary General has not made any proposal for the solution of the problem.
