

tb) if so, now many such rackets , in foreign exchange have been unearthed by Government during the last three years; and

(c) what steps are being taken by Government to remedy the situation?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF FINANCE (SHRI K. C. PANT): (a) It is recognised that some foreign exchange is lost to the country due to the system of 'compensatory payments' by which foreign exchange which should have found its way into India through legalised channels is diverted through illegal channels, the party at the receiving end in India being compensated in Indian rupees in lieu of the foreign exchange retained abroad. It is, however, not possible to form any reliable estimate of loss of foreign exchange on this account.

The information available with the Government does not show that the system of 'compensatory payments' is being indulged in on a large scale by foreign tourists. However, many of the Indians settled abroad who visit this country as tourists, are known to take recourse to this illegal channel.

(b) During the years 1964, 1965 and 1966, 986 cases were registered by the Enforcement Directorate involving 'compensatory payments'.

(c) The Enforcement Directorate are making all efforts to locate the recipients and the disbursing agents in India through their sources of intelligence. The Foreign Exchange Regulation Act, 1947, was also specifically amended with effect from the 1st April, 1965 so as to include a provision making it an offence to receive money for or on behalf of residents outside India otherwise than through an authorised dealer. On adjudication of such cases, the Director of Enforcement imposes appropriate penalties apart from confiscation of the currency. The persons who are responsible for large scale operations are also prosecuted.
