STATEMENT

(a) The number of quarters, category-wise, likely to be completed during the rest of the current financial year is as follows: —

Type	No. of residences
V	4
IV	304
III	272
II	1232
	<hr/> 1812

(b) The reasons for changes in the priority dates are certain liberalisation of the rules as follows: —

(1) In May 1963, it was decided to liberalise the allotment rules so as to count the entire service rendered by a Government employee anywhere towards the priority date whereas prior to that, only service in Delhi/ New Delhi or Simla was taken as qualifying for allotment of accommodation.

(2) In 1964, the rules were further liberalised to enable Government employees entitled to accommodation in types II to IV to count the entire service rendered under the Central Government in reckoning the date of entitlement instead of only the date from which they receive emoluments corresponding to the class of accommodation.

(3) In 1966, it was decided as a further liberalisation to count the service rendered under a State Government or in Foreign Service also towards "the priority date."

(4) As a further liberalisation of the rules, Government employees are now entitled to apply at any time during the allotment year and all applications received up to the 20th of a month are included in the waiting lists for allotment in the subsequent month. Allotment Lists are thus kept up-to-date monthly instead of only once in six months or once in a year as before.

The priority dates covered during the last five years in these types are as under:

Year	reached Dates      Types
	I	II	III	IV
1963	30-12-53	15-5-45	15-12-54	1-11-54
