†[THE MINISTER OF REHABILITATION (SHRI MAHAVIR TYAGI): State Governments were circularised last year about potentialities for deep water fishing in the large water spreads of newly-built reservoirs and dams. Replies received so far would appear to suggest that the present scope for such fishery schemes is very limited in Kerala, Jammu and Kashmir, Delhi, Manipur, Tripura and Goa. Gujarat has indicated that the potential in some of its new reservoirs would range between 60 mds. to 250 mds. per annum.

2. A model scheme for reservoir fishing has been sent to the Government of Andhra Pradesh and their reactions are still awaited. A scheme for settlement of fishermen families in Govind Sagar in Punjab is under consideration. A scheme for setting up fisheries in big tanks has been sent to the Government of Madhya Pradesh for consideration.

3. The following fishery schemes have already been sanctioned:—

- (i) Fishery scheme in Kheri district in Uttar Pradesh for settlement of 40 fishermen families.
- (ii) Fisheries in the tanks in Chanda and Bhandara districts in Maharashtra for settlement of 200 migrant fishermen families.]

THE MINISTER OF REHABILITATION (SHRI MAHAVIR TYAGI): The total number of persons employed in the Rehabilitation Reclamation Organisation is 811. Out of this 75 are displaced persons from East Pakistan.

REHABILITATION ON AGRICULTURAL LAND

217. DR. SHRIMATI PHULRENU GUHA: Will the Minister of REHABILITATION be pleased to state the target number of families of displaced persons which were to be rehabilitated on agricultural land during the year 1964-65 and how many were actually so rehabilitated?

THE MINISTER OF REHABILITATION (SHRI MAHAVIR TYAGI): The programme of the Dandakaranya Project for the working season 1964-65 envisaged settlement of 2,000 to 2,500 displaced families from East Pakistan on agricultural land. Against this target, 1038 families were moved to the villages up to 31-3-1965 and 1100 to 1200 more families are likely to be moved during the remaining part of the working season.

No target for rehabilitation of the new migrants from East Pakistan on agricultural land in other areas could be fixed because the various State Governments were pre-occupied with the problems relating to the reception and maintenance of the migrants from East Pakistan who came in large numbers. Moreover, the lands made available by the State Governments were mostly forest lands and sub-marginal lands. Before the migrants could be settled on these lands, detailed surveys and reclamation of land were necessary. As these are time-consuming operations, it was not possible to fix any target for the settlement of migrant families on land during the year 1964-65. Even so, 32 agricultural schemes for resettlement of 21,798 families have so far been sanctioned or approved. Of these, 4,400 agriculturist families are being settled on land.
