

copy. Whoever knew the Poet's practice knows that the practice with him was to make more than one press copy. And one of them is with a descendant of the owner of the Indian Press, Allahabad, another with descendant of the great artist Abanindranath.

SMRI BHUPESH GUPTA: Press copy in his handwriting?

DR. NIHAR RANJAN RAY: Yes. 'Shesher Kobita' had more than one copy, I believe. I have two press copies with me of other writings.

SHRI BHUPESH GUPTA: I hope you will not sell them.

MR. CHAIRMAN: Mr. Gupta will have them confiscated.

DR. NIHAR RANJAN RAY: Let us, therefore, not make a fetish of original copies. The original copy of the Gitanjali is, as I said, in safest custody and it is not going to be sold within our lifetime, let us hope.
