SPECIAL TRAINING CENTRES FOR WOMEN SOCIAL ORGANISERS

27. SHRI M. GOVINDA REDDY: Will the Minister for PLANNING be pleased to state:

(a) whether special training centres are proposed to be set up for women social education organisers; and

(b) if so, the particulars relating to such centres?

THE DEPUTY MINISTER FOR PLANNING (SHRI S. N. MISHRA): (a) and (b). No separate centres for normal training for women social education organisers are contemplated at present. A training centre for women social education organisers, who have undergone a five months' regular course at the combined training centres for men and women social education organisers has, however, been recently set up to give supplementary specialised training involving home improvement, health education, child care, occupational education, education in imparting training to village women, education in the techniques of organisation of group activities among women and field work, for a period of three months at Baroda under the auspices of the M. S. University of Baroda as an experimental measure. After the expiry of this period, the position will be reviewed and it will be decided thereafter if the Baroda training centre should be continued for giving the specialised supplementary training only or it should be converted as the sixth training centre for training both men and women social education organisers in the manner of the existing five training centres.
