

in India immediately before the commencement of the Constitution of India, to establish which fact there is no adequate information, he cannot be considered an Indian national. Further in the opinion of the Government of India, he is not a fit person for registration under article 8 of the Constitution."

SHRI BHUPESH GUPTA: It may be a very good Article! May I ask whether the Government of India considered it necessary to take the evidence of the person in question into account before a decision was reached or may I know whether it is permissible to take an ex parte decision in such matters?

SHRIMATI LAKSHMI MENON: This was not an ex parte decision. The Government consulted our Agent in Malaya. Also local enquiries were made. After that the concerned Ministries were consulted and it was only then that a decision was arrived at.

SHRI BHUPESH GUPTA: May I know whether any communication was sent to Mr. Balan, whether he was asked to make a statement and whether that statement was communicated to the Government of India?

* SHRIMATI LAKSHMI MENON: No communication was received from Mr. Balan. On the other hand, Mr. Balan had been informed as early as January 1953 about the situation.

SHRI BHUPESH GUPTA: May I know about which situation he was informed? Was the question put to him, "Are you an Indian national? Do you claim to be an Indian national?"

MR. CHAIRMAN That will do.

SHRI S. N. MAZUMDAR: Sir, the question has not been answered.

MR. CHAIRMAN. He was not an Indian national. That was the information that was communicated to him as early as January 1953. Later the matter was investigated: Ceylo-nese father, Indian mother, was born in Malaya, what is it?

SHRIMATI LAKSHMI MENON: No, Sir, the decision was taken only after making all investigations. We consulted our Agent in Malaya, local enquiries were made, the Ministries concerned were consulted and then only was a decision taken about his status.

SHRI BHUPESH GUPTA: Why was not Mr. Balan consulted in this matter?
