STATEMENT REGARDING STARRED QUESTION No. 289

THE MINISTER FOR REVENUE AND CIVIL EXPENDITURE (SHRI M. C. SHAH): With your permission, Sir, I wish to amplify the position with regard to the replies given by me in this Sabha on the 14th instant to the supplementary question by Shri Valiulla and Shri B. C. Ghose on Starred Question No. 289 regarding the Ninth Annual Meetings of the Boards of Governors of the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The actual position is that the Fund and the Bank have each a separate Board of Governors representing member countries. During the annual meetings, the two organisations have joint sessions as well as separate ones. On the recent occasion, the opening and closing sessions of the Boards of Governors of the Fund and Bank were joint. In between, the Fund Board held five separate meetings and the Bank Board held three. Some countries like India have the same persons representing them as Governors both on the Fund and the Bank. But there are also Alternate Governors for each country and this enables them to be adequately represented at the Board meetings of both.

STATEMENT REGARDING STARRED
QUESTION No. 402

THE DEPUTY MINISTER FOR IRRIGATION AND POWER (SHRI J. S. L. HATHI): On the 20th September 1954, in reply to a supplementary question put in the Rajya Sabha by Shri V. P. Rao, namely, "whether it is a fact that under the rules made under the Electricity Act of 1948, the workers are to be paid one-third of the net profits as bonus where such Electricity Boards are constituted" I stated, "I think such a provision is there." To another supplementary question by Shri P. Sundarayya "whether it is not a fact that they (State Governments) have not preferred to constitute such Electricity Boards because under the rules framed under the Electricity Act of 1948, they have to pay one-third of the profits as bonus to the workers and in order to escape that provision, they are not forming Electricity Boards", I replied, "I do not think that is the main consideration." I regret that my replies to the two questions did not represent accurately the correct legal position as the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948 does not make it obligatory that one-third of the profits should be paid to the workers in electricity supply undertakings on the formation of State Electricity Boards. I had actually in mind Paragraph II of the Sixth Schedule of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948, the relevant extract from which is reproduced as under.

"II (1) If the clear profit of a licensee in any year of account is in excess of the amount of reasonable return, one-third of such excess, not exceeding 7i per cent, of the amount of reasonable return, shall be at the disposal of the undertaking. Of the balance of the excess, one-half shall be appropriated to a reserve which shall be called the Tariffs and Dividends Control Reserve and the remaining shall either be distributed in the form of a proportional rebate on the amounts collected from the sale of electricity and meter rentals or carried forward in the accounts of the licensee for distribution to the consumers in future, in such manner as the State Government may direct."

The above provision in the Act, which is applicable to licensees both in States where Electricity Boards have been set up and in States where such Boards have not been constituted, does not in any way imply payment of one-third of the profits to the workers in electricity undertakings. The constitution of an Electricity Board in a State does not involve the complete disappearance of private electricity undertakings.
