SHRI K. C. REDDY: The hon. Member may be aware that we have entered into an agreement with a reputed French firm in regard to technical assistance and advice. But with regard to this dry dock, a special officer has been appointed—a Project Officer—and the Shipyard Company has decided to engage the services of consulting engineers in so far as the dry dock is concerned. A representative of the consulting engineers has come to India and he is making detailed investigations as regards the dry dock—the probable cost and other allied matters.

SHRI M. VALIULLA: May I know, what time it will take for the dry dock to be completed?

SHRI K. C. REDDY: I cannot say now.

SHRI M. VALIULLA: About two years or three years?

SHRI K. C. REDDY: About three years.

SHRI ANIL K. CHANDA: Yes, Sir.

PROF. G. RANGA: Is anything being done to introduce Ayurvedic treatment also, if it is asked for by those people, in view of the fact that the hon. Health Minister herself had stated that they were thinking of combining the Ayurvedic as well as allopathic treatment, wherever that was possible?

SHRI ANIL K. CHANDA: As far as I know, up till now, we have not any Ayurvedic institutions in those areas.

SHRI M. ROUFIQUE: May I know, how many districts are there in this Agency?

SHRI ANIL K. CHANDA: There are six districts.

SHRI ANIL K. CHANDA: We sent our own aide memoire, not in conjunction with other representatives of other peoples.
