Delay in GSLV launches and cryogenic engines

1236. DR. K. P. RAMALINGAM: Will the PRIME MINISTER be pleased to state:

(a) whether it is a fact that long delay in realizing the indigenous GSLV launcher and its cryogenic engine had somewhat upset other project schedules;

(b) whether it is also true that another priority area was that of adding new facilities and improving the existing ones so that projects are completed in realistic time-frames;

(c) whether it is also true that the ISRO had started building the next generation launchers with double and triple the current GSLV capacity for putting satellites in space such as the GSLV and those powered by the futuristic semi cryogenic engine; and

(d) if so, the details thereof?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE PRIME MINISTER'S OFFICE (DR. JITENDRA SINGH): (a) The delay in realizing the GSLV with indigenous cryogenic engine and stage had affected the launch schedules of 2 ton class of satellites to Geosynchronous Transfer Orbit (GTO).

(b) Yes, Sir. Action has been initiated to augment the facilities in the area of launch vehicle and satellites based on programmatic requirements.

(c) Yes, Sir.

(d) ISRO is developing the GSLV MK III launch vehicle to launch up to 4 ton class of communication satellites to GTO. ISRO has also initiated the development of semi-cryogenic engine technology for use in future heavy lift launch vehicle configurations to achieve higher payload capability.

Though no clearances are issued by PMG, it facilitates resolution of issues with Central and State Government agencies. The PMG has informed that as on 24th July 2015 there are 285 Projects still under consideration costing ₹ 12,27,499 crore and 30 Projects costing ₹ 1,06,552 crore are yet to be considered by the Sub-Groups.
