Demand to declare Kangla, the ancient capital of Manipur as the world Heritage site

SHRI MAHARAJA SANAJOBA LEISHEMBA (Manipur): Sir, Kangla - the ancient capital of Manipur had been the seat of Manipur civilisation since time immemorial, till the British occupation of Manipur on 27th April, 1891 A.D. More than 70 kings of same Dynasty ruled continuously for 1858 years at Kangla.

British officers in Manipur described in their books/reports about many fine buildings and monuments of Kangla. However, they destroyed everything after the Anglo-Manipuri war of 1891 A.D.

It is also a well known fact that Manipur gave the game of modern polo to the world. The Britishers called the game as "Hockey on Horse-back" and Lord Curzon, the then Viceroy of India, described Manipur as "Cradle of Polo". Since the modern polo has originated from Manipur, the oldest polo ground of the world is the polo ground of Kangla, Manipur.

Therefore, I request the Government through this House to take steps to get Kangla declared as the world heritage site.
