ANSWER

THE MINISTER OF STATE FOR JAL SHAKTI
(SHRI BISHWESWAR TUDU)

(a) & (b) Pradhan Mantri Krishi Sinchayee Yojana (PMKSY) was launched during the year 2015-16, with an aim to enhance physical access of water on farm and expand cultivable area under assured irrigation, improve on-farm water use efficiency, introduce sustainable water conservation practices, etc.

PMKSY is an umbrella scheme, consisting of two major components being implemented by this Ministry, namely, Accelerated Irrigation Benefit Programme (AIBP), and Har Khet Ko Pani (HKKP). HKKP, in turn, consists of four sub-components, being Command Area Development & Water Management (CAD&WM), Surface Minor Irrigation (SMI), Repair, Renovation and Restoration (RRR) of Water Bodies, and Ground Water (GW) Development component. However, in 2016, with the launching of revised AIBP format, CAD&WM component of HKKP was taken up for pari-passu implementation with AIBP. However, the GW Development component is provisionally being implemented only for ongoing works.

In addition, PMKSY also consists of two other components to be implemented by other Ministries. Per Drop More Crop (PDMC) component is being implemented by Department of Agriculture and Farmers Welfare, while Watershed Development component (WDC) of PMKSY is being implemented by Department of Land Resources. However, PDMC is now being implemented separately and no more a part of PMKSY.

Atal Bhujal Yojana is a World Bank aided central sector scheme of the Government of India, with an outlay of Rs. 6,000 crore. The scheme has focus on community participation and demand side interventions for sustainable ground water management in identified water stressed areas of seven States – Gujarat, Haryana, Karnataka, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Rajasthan and Uttar Pradesh. The scheme is being implemented from 1.4.2020 for a period of 5 years.

The details of funds released to Maharashtra under PMSKY and Atal Bhujal Yojana since the respective inception of the schemes, are as below:
