In 2022, WEP transitioned into a public private partnership working towards empowering women entrepreneurs by overcoming information asymmetry and providing continuum of support for meeting different needs. As a public private partnership initiative, it endeavors to collaborate with Ministries/Departments of government and other industry stakeholders. WEP in partnership with New Shop launched EmpowHER Biz - Sapno Ki Udaan, as part of its Award to Reward (ATR) program. This collaboration aims to empower women entrepreneurs by equipping them with the skills and resources needed to succeed in the organized retail sector by offering mentorship and comprehensive training covering retail management, digital tools, financial literacy and business development. New Shop, as the anchor partner of the ATR program have designed the programme to promote women entrepreneurship in retail sector and will provide comprehensive training, mentorship and other support to 50 participants during the programme. WEP will support this programme by on-boarding other partner organizations to meet any other requirements identified by the anchor partner.
